

Figure 1 is a plot showing the number of instances (y-axis) versus absolute targets (x-axis). The plot displays five upward-sloping dotted lines representing different target ranges. A red 'X' marks the point (1.2, 2), indicating that 2 instances are required for 1.2 absolute targets. A legend on the left shows a red 'X' for '2 instances' and a blue '+' for '5 instances'.

absolute targets

1.2